

Active Schools National Summit

July 19 - 21, 2023

Summit Details

Welcome

Thank you for your interest in the first-ever, in-person Active Schools National Summit. This event will take place from July 19-21, 2023. The theme of this conference is A Mountain Worth Climbing. This theme was chosen because we recognize that creating and sustaining an active classroom culture is difficult. Much like climbing a mountain, there can be challenges or obstacles that you encounter and must overcome. Barry Finlay once said, “every mountain top is within reach if you just keep climbing.” We couldn’t agree more! The best views come as you continue to climb higher and look back at your successes along the way. We will provide participants with the tools, resources, and connections that allow everyone to achieve success. This summit will motivate and inspire you to integrate more physical activity into your daily practice and ensure that all youth are educated in an active school designed to enhance learning, health, and well-being.

Costs to Attend

We aim to make this Active Schools National Summit as affordable as possible. The early-bird participant registration is $250, which includes five meals. The cost for exhibitors is $395, which includes one full conference registration and everything that comes with it. To ensure that accommodations are also affordable, participants can stay in single-occupancy, air-conditioned UNC dorms for just $60 per night. We are also offering limited scholarships.

Who Should Attend

This summit will have breakout sessions designed for all professionals and team members that support an active school culture. We welcome teachers, administrators, PTA members, higher education faculty, and program providers.
